The Daily Standard. Wednesday, June 21, 1871.

The Clergy of British Columbia Comte and Mill. two of the most profound thinkers of modern times, both latitudinarians, but both held that religion was the great mother of all human progress. Their conclusion is correct; for in the infancy of the human race there was no other guide. None but the priesthood could stand fearlessly up between the oppressed and the oppressor; none other sowed the seeds of intellectual progress in the human mind; none but the hierarchy taught moral principles, the relations between man and man; hone other taught the duty that GREAT PANORAMA man owes to God, his will with respect to man's actions, and his purposes with respect to man's end. The world is indeed a great debtor to religion. It is only the non-readers of history,-the unreflecting, -who deny the debt. Much as it is the fashion to undervalue religion -strong as is the tendency of Christian nations to separate religion from politics -yet if it were suddenly withdrawn from the world, and politics alone left to guide society, the human race would retrograde,-mankind would mourn,-the greatest source of all consolation for humanity would be gone. It was religion that civilized Europe. It was religion that laid all the existent foundations of European and American society. It is religion to-day, with its moral police, the clergy, that does more to humanize society than all other ancillary institutions put together. It is an undeniable fact that wherever the church goes up there society is improved, morally, intellectually, and socially. Take away the churches and the clergymen from British ize society. Yet in this colony there is one singular feature connected with religion—the Standard of the Stan ligion—the stendency of clergyme 1 10 leave the country,—and particularly is this so among the Protestant clergy. A few clergymen of the Catholic Church have left, but over a score of Protestant ministers of different denominations have gone away within the last eight years. Altogether, the number of Catholic and Protestants ministers who have left are thirty or upwards-a number quite unprecedented within the same time in other colonies. Of the Catholic Church four : The Rev. Fathers Haupt, Vary, Maloney, and Kearney; of the Church of England fifteen and upwards: Archdeacons Wright and Gilson; and the Rev'ds Crickmere, Tugwell, Lowe, Knipe, Pringle, Gammage, Brown, Reeve, Sheepshanks, Dundss, Hayman, Garrett, Cave, and one or two others; of the Presbyterian Church four: the Rev'ds Hall, Nimmo, Duff, and Somerville : of the Wcaleyan Methodists five : Rev'ds Lucas, Robson, Dr. Evans, Browning. white; of Congregationalists two: the Rev'ds Clarke and McFie, whose mission has been given up. What causes have been at work to produce such a clerical Syrup, emigration we know not. It is true that our population has decreased, and it would naturally follow that a less T. Kenset String Beans, number of clergymen would be required. do But that don't wholly account for their do departure. There is a wide field for mis- California Peeled Tomatoes sionary enterprises among the Indian population, in every direction in our vast territory. But with the exception of the Catholic Missions at Okanagan, at St. Mary's and at New Westminster on Fraser river, at Cowichan, and at Harbledown Island; and the Missions of the Church of England at Alberni, Cowichan, Metlakahtlah, and Lytton; and the Weslevau Mission at Nanaimo, but very little is being done by the clergy among the Indian population. The privations that a missionary has to submit to among the Indians may have had much to do in stopping missionary efforts, particularly after the romance of such a life has worn off. It is, however, among the Catholic Fathers that we find the most general and untiring efforts to evangelize the Indians. No danger stops them; no priva-tion deters them; with more courage than would be required to storm a Malakoff or a Redan, they for thirty years have gone everywhere among our Indian tribes to spread religion. It is a question, however, whether the efforts of different religious bodies to improve their religious condition have not brought them to some extent in collision with each other and thus contributed to a decrease of missions Outside of certain centres of population no clergyman resides to minister to the white population. The effort has been made, and failed, but it has not been because that our population are more immoral or less religious than men elsewhere, but it has been mainly due to the fact that the population is chiefly made up of single men. Once fill our rural districts with families,—with married men,-and fewer clergymen will afterwardsemigrate. There may be other and more important causes why so many ministers have left the colony. But whatever the cause may be, it is matter of regret that the country has lost so many well and highly educated gentlemen, an honor to their profession. Yet there stares us in the face the fact that with the stares us in the face the fact that with the exception of Bishop DeMers and Father Rondeau on this Island, and Bishop D'Herbomez, Fathers Fouquet, Paudezet, Grandedy, Gendre, and Joyla, on the Mainland, belonging to the Catholic Church; and Deau Cridge and Archdeacon Woods, of the Church of England; and the Rev. Mr. Jamieson, of the Presbyterian Church, there is not leaded.

Queene, June 13—Hon. H. L. Langevin, in a public address here to-day, alluded to the Treaty of Washington. He said that the Canadian Government energetically protested to the Home Government against the claims concerning the fisheries. The reply was that the British Empire required that the Commissioners should sign the Treaty, but the right of the Dominion to reject the clauses affecting its Interests was reserved. It remained for the Imperial Government to show why the objectionable causes should be accepted and objectionable causes should be accepted and what inducements there were for Canada to sequiesce in it. Товонто, June 13—Sir John McDonald is expected here in a few days, when he will publicly and fully define his position on the Treaty of Washington, Gladstone having spoken and Parliament having considered the Irishmen themselves admit that dollars and cents have something to do with the visit of the illustrious exiles; it is true however that there are two kinds of Irshmen here as well as elsewhere. The greatest farce recently enacted here (for we are sometimes phanny) has been the nominations of the Sau Frencisco County Committee on

> PRIMARY ELECTIONS by itself! and in spite of remonstrances, loud and strong, they still hold on. The wor hy ex-mayor McCoffin formerly of the lrish constabulary police, a shrewd and aspiring man who has worked his way up by politics, is at the head of this bold movement and hopes through it to obtain office again, but I think he will be mistaken. The principal plank in

The fact is that the soil of Catifornia when virgin was fertile, but it has been if I may say as, prostituted by the farmers, and it is prematurely worn out and becomes unproductive, requiring to be placed under restraint and taken care of for some years, to redeem its character and restore its vigor. A man can no more keep taking money out of his pocket, withou putting any into it and expect to find dollars here, when he requires them, than the farmer can hope for good crops who is always taking off the hand and never putting anything on it. This reminds me of ANOTHER HOPELESS TASK the opposition of our local Irish Senator Casserly to the Alabama treaty; as well might one of those bugs that tumble about horse manure attempt to cope with an eagle ! The profound wisdom, noble feeling, and exalted humanity displayed by the President in the expression of his sentiments on the subject (if we are to believe the report) are alone sufficient to give lustre to his presidential term. There may be some venal men in the Senate, but the large majority I should think Senate, but the large majority I should think would guarantee the loyalty and patriotism of the body as a whole.
